

Flexibility

Mobilizing technology of cutting edge research applications requires close and beneficial collaborations.

The highly motivated ALS Automated Lab Solutions team works with customers and partners worldwide to generate solutions for their specific needs and demands.

Our ALS CellCelector system supports to utilize any, even none standard, labware for your specific workflow. Furthermore, our device allows software and hardware adoptions to meet your specific application need or e.g. the integration of our system into an automation platform.